Information leaflet

1. How and where to apply

Anyone aged 14 or over who lives outside of the Federal Republic of Germany can make an application in writing for the issuance of a certificate of conduct (criminal records check) for personal use or for submission to a public authority. The application can be sent directly to the authority holding the register, at the following address:

Bundesamt für Justiz
- Bundeszentralregister -
Referat IV 2
53094 Bonn, Germany

The person filing the application must provide proof of their identity and, if they are acting as a legal representative, authorisation to represent the person concerned. When filing the application, the person concerned may not have themselves represented by a person who has been instructed to act on their behalf, not even by a lawyer (Section 30 Subsec. 2 of the Federal Central Criminal Register Act (BZRG)). The application must contain the full personal details of the person concerned and must be signed by him/her personally. The address to which the certificate of conduct should be sent must also be stated. The personal details and the signature must be officially certified. Such official certification, which must be recent, can be issued by a German diplomatic or consular representation, by a foreign authority, or by a notary public. If the applicant's surname at birth differs from his/her current surname, both names must be stated.

Where an enhanced certificate of conduct is being applied for, a written request made by the authority requiring the enhanced certificate of conduct must also be supplied, in which it must be confirmed that the requirements of Sec. 30a Subsec. 1 of the Federal Central Criminal Register Act (BZRG) are met. This is the case where the issuance of an enhanced certificate of conduct is required by law or if it is required where professional duties involving the supervision, care, education, teaching or training of minors are to be carried out, or for other professional duties which are similarly likely to involve contact with minors.

2. Fees

The fee for each certificate of conduct is €13. Payment must be made by transfer to the account of the Federal Office of Justice using the bank details shown below:

Bundesamt für Justiz
IBAN: DE49 3700 0000 0038 0010 05
BIC: MARKDEF1370

Payment reference (mandatory information): file no. (if known) or applicant's full name (forename and surname)

A copy of the bank transfer form should – where possible – be included with the application and sent to the Federal Office of Justice.

Please note that it is no longer possible to pay the fee by cheque.

The certificate of conduct cannot be issued until the fee has been received or until proof of payment has been provided, as set out in Sec. 8 Judicial Administration Costs Code (JVKostO).

Please note that if it is necessary to refund the fee, it will be transferred to the same bank account used to pay the original fee to the Federal Office of Justice (payment account). In the event that a reimbursement is transferred to a foreign account, the amount may be reduced by any fees incurred for the transfer which are to be borne by the recipient.

3. Other information

A certificate of conduct for personal use can only be sent to the applicant personally at his/her home address. A certificate of conduct requested for submission to an authority will be sent directly to the authority in question. For this reason, the address of the relevant authority as well as the reference and/or file No. of the recipient authority must be indicated on the application.

In the event that, as well as, or rather than, being a German national, you are a national of one or more other European Union member states, or a British national, you are required to state this in your application. In such cases, a "European Certificate of Conduct" is issued.

Some parts of the certificate of conduct are in three languages (German, English, and French). Applicants wishing to have any other parts of the certificate of conduct translated, or have it translated into a language other than German, English or French, must make their own arrangements for this. The content of the certificate of conduct is governed by the provisions of the Federal Central Criminal Register Act. An application can be made using the application form overleaf.

If an application is made additionally for an apostille or final authentication ("Endbeglaubigung"), which the Federal Agency for Foreign Affairs is responsible for issuing, the personal data provided in the application, including the e-mail address, will be forwarded to the Federal Agency for Foreign Affairs.
